Celebrating 20 Years of Helping Children Affected by Violence

A Message from Leadership

2023 was a banner year for the CAC. The CAC forensically interviewed 358 children affected by crime and our advocates helped 491 children and their families. Since 2004, we've been helping children like Max.

Max was 14 years old when s/he came to us. Max had been sexually assaulted by a family member for several years. Max was very anxious about talking about what happened. Our advocates provided support and resources to Max and his/her mother, and our forensic interviewer empowered Max to share all the details about without getting scared. Max's mom recently shared that s/he is feeling less scared and sad, he has been responding well to his mental health treatment, her/his grades have improved and s/he feels safe with the support of his advocates. Although the case is still pending in court, because of the powerful evidence from Max' forensic interview, it is more likely that the family member who assaulted Max will plead guilty, meaning Max won't have to testify.

In addition, we hired Daniel Castaneda as our new Executive Director who is doing an excellent job leading our amazing staff. We also adopted Core Values and updated our Mission and Vision.

None of this work could have been done without the leadership of the Board and the dedication and hard work of our staff. We are grateful to our multi-disciplinary team, generous donors and community partners who help ensure child victims have a voice. We are only able to continue to do our important work because of your commitment to helping child victims of crime.

With sincere gratitude,

Kathy Cady, J.D.

Vision & Values

The CAC was founded as a non-profit in 2004 to provide a coordinated, child-focused approach and comprehensive services to abused children and their families, ensuring that children are not revictimized by the very system designed to protect them.

Vision

Giving children a place to be heard and start healing.

Mission

We provide children affected by violence and their families with services of support, forensic interviews, resources, and hope.

Core Values

EMPOWER: We support children by giving them a safe space to tell their truth.

INTEGRITY: We use nationally recognized best practices to reduce additional trauma and seek justice.

HEALING: We support children and families by providing resources and referrals to help rebuild their lives.

COMPASSION: We treat the children and families we serve, our partners and each other with respect.

COLLABORATE: We work with other governmental and community partners to seek justice.

How we help

The CAC (1) conducts forensic interviews and (2) provides advocacy services to the child and family to help them heal.

What is a Forensic Interview?

A forensic interview is an information gathering process in which children who have been abused are questioned in a developmentally sensitive, legally sound, and non-suggestive manner about what has happened to them. Our forensic interviewers have been trained in nationally accepted, best practice ways to ask children questions. This interview is observed by our partners, instead of having each agency interview the child separately. Our partners include prosecutors, law enforcement and child protection social workers. Conducting one forensic interview observed by all partner agencies greatly reduces the chances of further trauma to children that could otherwise occur from excessive interviews and lack of communication and coordination among agencies.

How Our Advocates Help Children and Families

Our advocates give families specific referrals for mental health counseling, housing / relocation, financial aid, victims' rights, the criminal justice process, California victim compensation, and other services and resources.
